Ecological and Environmental Justice

Chaos arose first; then Gea from her broad chest, the safe seat of all immortals forever

— Hesiod, Theogony

At the beginning it was only Chaos, the empty and endless cosmogonic space. Suddenly, from Chaos appeared Gea (also called Gaia), the Mother Earth, the principle of life that generated 12 Titans and the Gods of Olympus. Thus narrates the Theogony of Hesiod. Centuries later, in a historical phase in which chaos is raging again, GEA, the School for Ecological and Environmental Justice, was born, with the aim of training new generations of activists in ecological justice.

Gea is an association founded in 2021 to promote and disseminate the vision, culture, proposals and practices related to Ecological and Environmental Justice.

It collaborates with movements, social realities, research centers, international agencies and intellectuals aware of the relationship between environmental sustainability and social equity, internationally engaged in building an integral vision of ecology.

Among the objectives of the association is the organization of the Gea School. The School for Ecological and Environmental Justice is a training project of strategic interest to increase the political culture, tools and skills useful for getting out of the system crisis, to bring about changes, alliances and transformations oriented towards justice in young Italian activists. social, environmental and ecological.

The school team is made up of: Giuseppe De Marzo, director of the school; Giulia Anita Bari, project manager; Elisa Sermarini, communications manager.
